Introduction into the Book

Ali Panahi, a Ph.D. in TEFL from the University of Tehran and of Certificate in Teaching IELTS from London Teacher Training College with Grade A (Reg. No.2763/271114/73), welcomes you to the IELTS Speaking Booster. The main logic behind the title of the book, i.e., "IELTS Speaking Booster" is to introduce an effective approach for developing my IELTS candidates' spoken proficiency. To this end, before the book was published, I had taken a poll of some IELTS candidates over the course of teaching the book as a pamphlet for 6 months. Therefore, This is a book resulted from data collected from the needs of the language learners on the one hand and from my own personal teaching experience with IELTS for more than 15 years, on the other hand. Added to that, my more-than-20-year learning experience with English language has been a key impetus for the coming into-an -existence of the present book.

The architecture of the book is designed with required elements for IELTS speaking test: Sample IELTS Speaking questions, idiomatic expressions, collocations, needed grammatical items, strategies and tips for tackling IELTS speaking test, ready-made expressions, and vocabulary items appropriate for a vast variety of topics appearing on IELTS, etc. Your Speaking test will go well if you pay attention to the tips given in the book, but practicing is also needed. Of course, the practice will be conducted in the class and your out-of-the-class activity will be also required: You are required to talk a lot to your self.

To wrap up, remember to practice, practice and practice; whenever you're tired of practicing, practice again. I beg you to realize that the IELTS exam is not a monster unless you make one out of it. Try to do your best and even if you feel disappointed, don't let it negatively impress you. Keep going and you will make it!
