Preface

This book is intended to increase the general information of university students about cultural affairs. It aims at bridging the gap between high school and university students' English proficiency and in particular reading skill, grammar and vocabulary. This book consists of 12 reading passages each followed by a number of reading comprehension questions as well as grammatical and vocabulary exercises.

This volume comprises 12 units. Each reading is preceded by some pre reading activities whose purpose is to sharpen the attention of the learners and arouse interest and curiosity in term regarding the themes of the passages.

One of the strengths of current book is that the Persian equivalent of unfamiliar and difficult words in each text are provided so that the readers can focus on the comprehension of the reading passages without being worried about the meaning of unknown words. This approach which is based on empirical research enhances comprehension and motivates the learners to further reading.

Each reading passage is followed by a variety of post reading activates including reading comprehension questions and vocabulary exercises. In addition, each unit is furnished with a vocabulary enrichment section whose purpose is to help students enrich their vocabulary through prefixes and suffixes. Finally, each section ends with grammar section in which frequent grammatical patterns are introduced and relevant exercises are provided. It is believed that the variety of activities in this book will add versatility to each unit.

It is hoped that this textbook, with all its shortcomings, will meet the objectives of cultural affairs courses at university and higher education centers in Iran and will prove useful to students of cultural affairs fields of study.

The authors welcome any constructive suggestions and criticism for future edition.
