Preface

This book is designed to improve your grammar knowledge. Grammar knowledge is not endless. Grammar is a finite set of structures through which an infinite number of sentences can be constructed. If the English language grammar is easy to learn, there is an end to it and it serves as the backbone of someone's English knowledge, why not try to improve it? In Iran grammar is taught at schools and universities but mostly pattern drills are non-existent to reinforce the knowledge learned. At language institutes students moving from basic levels to advanced levels learn the English grammar mostly through good practice but haphazardly and anecdotally.

Despite all the afore-mentioned, when there comes the time for Iranians to take a grammar test most of them are reluctant, unwilling and underconfident. Such being the case, this book strives to provide a comprehensive yet concise and practical knowledge of the English grammar to make the potential test candidates improve, reinforce and strengthen a practical English grammar. It seems this book can suit a range of candidates, from high school and university students to those studying in language institutes as well as those preparing for international exams (i.e., TOEFL, IELTS, ESOL, etc.). Moreover, this book can serve as a test bank used by teachers, and as a reference book to consult and refer to.

Regarding how to use this book, the best way is to learn the patterns one by one through any kind of practice (i.e., memorization, drills, sentence making, etc.). Then, to check your grammar knowledge, tests can be taken. At initial stages, real time and pressure is not needed. Take your time and at your convenience try to answer some items or a complete test. Have trouble shooting through checking the Answer Key and the grammar lessons provided. You can seek help from your peers or teachers to improve your grammar knowledge. When you are sure you have improved your grammar knowledge, take the tests in real time away from all everyday life distractions. This book contains almost 3000 test items and thus if you learn the points through the application of your theoretical knowledge, an everlasting success can be achieved. However, if you have finished the book, constant revision along with consulting and using parallel references to keep your knowledge up-to-date is of great importance. Remember without practice your knowledge might dry up!

It is hoped that this book can make a change and that it can fill the gap existing on the market. Some years ago we published the book TOEFL Grammar in a Flash and many of our colleagues and students acknowledged its usefulness and welcomed it. To revise the book we updated and completed both the instruction sections and the tests. So we hope you find this book quite practical and useful.

As a final remark, we dedicate this book to the Iranian society and we hope this book serves its purpose and functions as a milestone to bring about fundamental changes for the genuine users.
