Introduction

Many people consider learning grammar a chore. And at times, it can be. But understanding the grammar of any language is essential for becoming a skilled and accurate user of that language. English is certainly no exception. The rules of grammar for a language learner are like the rules of the road for a driver. In order to be able to drive properly and maneuver with other drivers, you have to know the rules that everyone goes by. Naturally, some people break the rules and make driving difficult for other drivers. This is true of language, too. If you follow the rules of grammar, you can express yourself clearly. But if you fail to observe those rules, people may find it difficult to understand you or they may even misunderstand you entirely. So it's really very important to understand and use correct grammar.

However, just knowing the rules of grammar is not enough. Learners should be provided with abundant practice in using English grammar. The more you practice, the more you become proficient in how you use English and to what extent you understand it. There are various kinds of exercises to allow you to manipulate the language from different angles.

In order to enable students to improve their reading comprehension skills and expand their vocabulary the part two of the book provides fourteen reading comprehension passages. These passages are short, attractive, simple and provide interesting information for learners.

I wish you every success in your pursuit of English proficiency.
